Graphic Materials (1996-1997 Updates)

The opportunity to include Graphic Materials in the Cataloger's Desktop provided a way for the Library of Congress Prints and Photographs Division (P&P) staff to update the 1982 edition to incorporate more cataloging practices and respond to some of the suggestions made by other institutions cataloging similar materials. The full text, including updated rules and examples, will appear as an infobase in Cataloger's Desktop, not as a published print version. A summary of the additional rules and the MARC-coded examples will be posted on the LC Web site in 1998.

Over the past fifteen years staff have completed cataloging projects for a wide variety of materials--from architectural drawings and theatrical posters, to cartoons, daguerreotypes, and photographic prints and negatives. P&P has also moved from a card format to an online MARC format catalog and staff have gained experience cataloging at varying levels of detail, describing single items as well as collections numbering one million items and everything in between. Certain cataloging practices have evolved within P&P to resolve cataloging issues that were not specifically addressed in Graphic Materials, or if addressed, were no longer relevant due to differences between the new online and old manual card environments.

Changes to the original text are, in fact, minor. More complex issues will be addressed with the publication of a second edition. Changes include an update of terminology to conform with terms in the 1995 edition of the Thesaurus for Graphic Materials (e.g., photographic prints instead of photoprints); a review and update of examples to reflect current cataloging practices; additions to the specific material designation list; and the addition of new examples coded in the MARC format.

Summary of updated rules:

- | | |
|------|---|
| 0A.b | Changed "thousands" to "millions" in 2nd paragraph, 1st sentence.

Added option for cataloging published portfolios according to Graphic Materials . |
| 0C | Added reference to punctuation and tagging guidelines in USMARC Format for Bibliographic Data . |
| 0C | Footnote 3: Added sentence directing catalogers to the Chicago Manual of Style (1993) for guidance on writing style and punctuation | beyond what is prescribed in the cataloging rules.

- | | |
|-------|---|
| 1C1 | Added option to use the title "[Untitled]" for single images. |
| 1G6 | Added option to use instead rule 5B7.2. |
| 2F | Added option to use angle brackets around the dates of published material in open-ended collections, e.g., <1956- > |
| 2F4.3 | Added additional example. Added option to record copyright date following published date even if the dates are the same year. |
| 2F5.2 | Added option for always providing a date for published items. |
| 2H | Added option to use angle brackets around the dates of unpublished material in open-ended collections, e.g., <1956- > |
| 2H1. | Added sentence and example to illustrate use of bulk dates to describe collections. |
| 2H2. | Added option to record for photographs the copyright date and the date of the negative(s) even if the dates are the same year. |
| 2H2.1 | Added sentence and example to illustrate use of multiple dates for single items when dates of execution differ from printing dates. |
| 2H5. | Added option for always providing a date. |
| 3B2 | Added option to use angle brackets around the quantity of material in open-ended collections, e.g., <3,500 > photographic prints |
| 3B4 | Added some clarification and updated examples. |
| 3B5 | Expanded and explained SMD list. |
| 3B5.1 | Added option of including terms describing both physical media and format. |
| 3B5.2 | Added option to use any term from an established vocabulary source or a published thesaurus. |
| 3C1. | Updated example and added example. |

- 3C2.1 Updated examples.
- 3C4.1 Updated to reflect option for using "color" and "hand-colored" rather than abbreviations, "col." and "hand col." Added distinction of when to use each term. Updated examples.
- 3C4.2 Corrected lantern slide example.
- 4.E. Deleted "the name of the subseries" in last sentence.
- Glossary Updated glossary references; updated footnotes to reflect new terms.

Issues To Consider for Second Edition

The Prints and Photographs Division has received a number of suggestions from outside institutions for revision and clarification of rules. We have incorporated those suggestions that involve minor revisions in this first update. We have deferred more complicated issues for a full 2nd published edition.

The following issues and suggestions are under consideration for the 2nd edition:

- 1) Guidelines for formulating and capitalizing collection names.
- 2) Rules of entry.
- 3) MARC field-tagged examples in the rules.
- 4) Rules to address physical description of open-ended collections. (DONE / 1997)
- 5) Additional guidelines for transcribing and devising titles, including guidelines and examples for devising titles for portraits.
- 6) Guidelines for bracketing title information.
More specifically, decide to bracket or not bracket all devised titles. (Current practice is to bracket devised titles for items and not to bracket devised titles for collections.)
- 7) More examples of collection-level description, especially for diverse groups of material.
- 8) Examples with architectural drawings
- 9) Reconcile methods for expressing dimensions between AACR2 Chapter 8 and Graphic Materials
- 10) Local institution notes for rare but published materials such as war posters and Currier & Ives prints owned by more than one institution.
- 11) Attributed statement of responsibility (1G3)
- 12) Dimensions for groups of material; reconcile with AACR2 Chapter 8 recommendation to use "or smaller" (3D9.2)
- 13) Examples that use the MARC field notes 530, 533, 544, 585.

- 14) When to treat albums as an item and when as a group.
- 15) Add example of span date and bulk date, as used in the Appendix on dates.
- 16) Clarify that no place and no publisher are used with unpublished material; reconcile with AACR2.

Suggestions and comments are welcome. Write or email:

PREFACE

Shortly after the publication of the second edition of the Anglo-American Cataloguing Rules, the Library of Congress announced it would prepare separate manuals to deal with specialized materials that were not fully covered in the code. For graphic materials, this meant a concern for the collections of the Library's Prints and Photographs Division, custodian of some eleven million original photographs and negatives, historical prints, fine art prints, posters, drawings, and paintings on paper. Comparable collections in other institutions, including museums and archives, would benefit from an expansion of the rules, as there was no existing cataloging code addressing these materials.

The Library saw the task of compiling the necessary rules as a complex one in view of the following problems: (1) finding the time for its subject and cataloging specialists to work on drafts; (2) reconciling the differences in viewpoint between general cataloging practices and those needed for specialized collections; (3) identifying other groups and individual experts, who could have input into the rules; and (4) promoting AACR 2 as the national standard on which all this activity necessarily must be based.

Fortunately, the Council of National Library and Information Associations (CNLIA) had already formed the Joint Committee on Specialized Cataloging, whose goal was to act as a liaison between the Library of Congress and other persons and groups involved with the cataloging of special materials. After discussion with representatives of the Library, CNLIA decided to seek funding to help in a project to produce manuals for manuscripts, archival collections of motion pictures, and original graphic items and historical collections. In June 1980, CNLIA received a grant from the Research Resources Program of the National Endowment for the Humanities to enable a committee to meet in Washington, D.C., once the Library of Congress had written a draft and had collated reviews from the widest possible range of specialists in the field.

The compilation of rules was undertaken by Elisabeth Betz, Picture Cataloging Specialist in the Library's Prints and Photographs Division of Research Services and a member of the Joint Committee on Specialized Cataloging. While the draft was being prepared, the staff of the Prints and Photographs Division offered critical insight and solutions to problems peculiar to the graphic arts. The Office for Descriptive Cataloging Policy was frequently consulted on questions regarding AACR 2. Approximately 350 copies of the draft were distributed early in 1982 to a variety of specialized and general librarians, museum curators, and archivists. Comments were incorporated into the draft, which was then studied by the editorial committee. This committee was composed of Elisabeth Betz and five individuals chosen for their experience with different kinds and sizes of graphic collections, their knowledge of methods of documentation used in libraries, archives, and museums, their knowledge of automated library systems, and their professional affiliations. These persons were: Georgia Bumgardner (Curator of Graphic Arts, American Antiquarian Society, Worcester, Mass.), Lynn Cox (Curator of Prints and Photographs, The Peale Museum, Baltimore), James Kopp (Librarian, History of Medicine Division, National Library of Medicine, Bethesda, Md.), William Roberts (Assistant Head, Public Services, Bancroft Library, University of California, Berkeley), and Christopher Seifried (Head of Cataloging, National Photography Collection, Public Archives of Canada, Ottawa).

The Library of Congress is grateful for the support of the Council on National Library and Information Associations, and through them, the National Endowment for the Humanities. The Library wishes to thank the editorial committee and all those individuals who took the time to comment on the draft. It is hoped these rules will prove useful when describing materials that are originals or are historical in nature. For published graphic materials primarily of a current nature, we recommend that librarians continue to apply Chapter 8 of AACR 2, which has not been replaced by the present compilation of rules.

INTRODUCTION

Thousands of public and research libraries, museums, archives, local historical societies, corporations, professional associations, and private collectors are custodians of graphic materials. In the past, each has had to devise its own system of documentation because there were no readily available cataloging guidelines. Researchers and staff alike have suffered from having to cope with a multiplicity of methods.

A nationally accepted system of cataloging would benefit both the institution and the researcher. Those embarking on cataloging projects would not have to totally rethink the problem. Communication among institutions with similar holdings would be fostered, and they could in fact profit from some form of shared cataloging. Whether used in a manual or automated form, a standardized set of rules would guide institutions in presenting the researcher with consistent cataloging information. A national union catalog for graphic collections to aid researchers in locating sources could become a reality. Even if not adopted in its entirety, a standard would provide a reference point by which institutions could indicate how their own cataloging practices differ.

Computer technology has made it possible to document huge numbers of items and transmit information electronically. The impact of automation on inventory control and research access could be enormous. Thus it is crucial that custodians of graphic collections think seriously about establishing compatible methods of documentation even if, for many, automation is not right at hand. Because national standards and automated systems for book cataloging have proven so successful, it is worth trying to adapt that format to graphic materials.

This manual provides guidance for cataloging graphic materials within the general structure and theory of the second edition of the Anglo-American Cataloguing Rules (AACR 2), applied by libraries and automated bibliographic networks in the United States, Canada, Great Britain, and Australia. Library cataloging methods have been reconciled with the principles of archives and museum documentation in an attempt to facilitate the cataloging of graphic materials and, furthermore, to link graphics records with a national system used for books and serials.

Chapter 8 of AACR 2 focuses on commercially-produced audiovisual materials, published and/or documented artists' prints and photographs, portfolios, and reproductions accompanied by printed information. Although the general introduction to AACR 2 states that the rules are "not specifically intended for specialist and archival libraries," it is "recommended that such libraries use the rules as the basis of their cataloguing and augment their provisions as necessary." This manual not only augments the original rules found in Chapter 8, but it also departs from that base in several instances in an effort to meet of a collection.² In these rules the cataloger is allowed to record such interpretive information but, for the catalog user's sake, distinctions are made among transcribed, supplied, and conjectural data.

Graphics may be cataloged individually because of their aesthetic value or their historical and iconographical importance. In many instances, however, an individual image may have relatively little value as a work of art or as a single piece of evidence but rather derives meaning and importance from the collection of which it is a part. For this reason, equal attention has been given to item-level and collection-level cataloging.

It should be emphasized that the following rules are most significant for the description and identification of graphic materials felt to be of importance and of some permanent value to the institution's holdings. Full cataloging may not be feasible for all pictorial works, especially those that can be efficiently arranged in self-indexing files or shelved by creator, subject, or other category.

This manual is not intended to teach someone techniques of identifying, processing, and organizing graphic collections. These rules are based on the assumption that the material has already been examined and identified, that collections have been formed, and the data requisite for the creation of the catalog record have been gathered. The purpose of the rules is to establish conventions for expressing and formatting cataloging data consistently. The punctuation prescribed here follows the requirements of the International Standard Bibliographic Description (ISBD). Although designed for automation, such punctuation conventions can help maintain consistency in the patterns of data in a manual catalog system.

A "neutral" vocabulary was sought in order to make the rules more widely applicable. For more technical terms, a glossary is included. Some rules may seem to require the cataloger to state the self-evident (such as having to record the fact that the plate mark was measured on an intaglio print), but one must remember that these rules are designed for describing a variety of graphic materials with the goal of making them accessible to researchers of all kinds who may not be aware of specialized practices.

² Inaccurate assumptions regarding graphic materials are a characteristic hazard of picture cataloging. False assumptions from inherent picture ambiguities may be compounded with the development of automated systems having such capabilities as text-word searching. The developing technologies and a wide option for interpretation might lead to numerous and potentially embarrassing problems down the road. Interpretation is a valid and frequently required element of graphics cataloging, but discretion must be exercised.

These rules cover only the part of the record for description and, therefore, do not deal with the choice or form of access points that provide the means for reaching the description. While recognizing the importance of name and subject references to researchers working with graphic collections, it was nonetheless decided that the description of original and historical graphic materials was a sufficiently complex problem to warrant a document just to deal with this aspect of cataloging alone. Because access points and subject headings emanate from the description, the description is a fundamental concern of catalogers. For choosing and formulating standardized access points, see guidelines in the following chapters of the Anglo-American Cataloguing Rules (AACR 2):

21 - Choice of Access Points: Guides the cataloger in choosing a main entry heading as well as the various added entry headings.

22 - Headings for Persons: Guides the cataloger in choosing a particular form for the headings that represent people.

23 - Geographic Names: Guides the cataloger in choosing a particular form for the headings that represent nations, states, provinces, counties, cities, towns, and the like.

24 - Headings for Corporate Bodies: Guides the cataloger in choosing a particular form for the headings that represent corporate bodies.

26 - References: Guides the cataloger in referring to the particular forms of headings chosen under chapters 22-25 from various rejected, alternative, or variant forms, i.e., cross references.

Some rules are designated as optional additions, or are introduced by the word optionally. To quote AACR 2, "these provisions arise from the recognition that different solutions to a problem and differing levels of detail and specificity are appropriate in different contexts. Some ... options should be decided as a matter of cataloguing policy for a particular catalogue ... and should therefore be exercised either always or never. Other ... options should be exercised case by case. It is recommended that all cataloguing agencies distinguish between these two types of options and keep a record of their policy decisions and of the circumstances in which a particular option may be applied" (AACR 2, 0.7).

Further, a certain necessity for interpretation and judgment on the part of the cataloger is recognized in these rules, as it is in AACR 2. The requirements of a particular catalog or the use of the material being cataloged must always be taken into consideration; situations in which there might be differing local needs are brought to the attention of the cataloger by the words if desirable. The cataloging agency should always record its interpretations so that they are consistently applied (AACR 2, 0.9).

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

During my 12 years in the Prints and Photographs Division, I have discussed the problems of cataloging graphic materials with many people. It would be impossible to name them all here, but I would like to mention in particular my colleagues in the Division, Bernard Reilly (Curator of Popular and Applied Graphic Art) and Annette Melville (Reference Librarian). The Joint Committee on Specialized Cataloging of the Council of National Library and Information Associations provided an impetus for me to become involved in more than just Divisional considerations by clearly voicing a need for supplementary rules to AACR 2. I am grateful to Processing Services for the opportunity to work on this project and to Ben Tucker for his constant interest and help in its progress. It was a great pleasure working with the editorial committee of Georgia Bumgardner, Lynn Cox, Jim Kopp, Bill Roberts, and Chris Seifried. They shared not only their knowledge, experience, and time, but also an enthusiasm and persistence in dealing with the complexities of cataloging a broad range of graphic materials in a consistent manner. Those who responded to the draft could, unfortunately, not be answered separately, but they will find many changes in this final version that reflect their comments. I would also like to thank Oliver Jensen, Chief of the Prints and Photographs Division, for supporting me in this effort when equally pressing work in the Division had to be temporarily set aside.

0A. Scope

These rules provide for the description of graphic materials that are of continuing or potential aesthetic or documentary value. Specifically, they may apply to:

a) Single two-dimensional pictorial works that are original. Typical examples are prints, posters, drawings, paintings, photographic prints, negatives, transparencies, slides, etc. (Single photographic copies and photomechanical prints of such works are included as well.)¹ Single items may be unpublished (though they may exist in multiple copies) or published, in which case they may or may not have a statement of publication, distribution, or printing.

b) Groups of single two-dimensional pictorial works. For the purpose of these rules, these groups will be referred to as collections (whether two items or millions). It is assumed that the items either (1) have been assembled by or have accumulated without plan around a person, family group, or corporate body and been acquired by the repository as a collection or (2) have been assembled by the repository from its own accessions into a collection for cataloging purposes. Collections may consist of both published and unpublished items, but the collection itself does not exist in a published form. Material is considered to form a collection even if it is bound together, as in an album. Collections may be accompanied by related manuscript and printed textual material, such as pamphlets, catalogs, checklists, periodical tearsheets, and newspaper clippings, as well as non-print material, such as sound recordings.

If a bound volume or portfolio (even one consisting primarily of graphics) is a bona fide monographic publication with a title page or its equivalent, it is to be cataloged according to AACR 2, Chapters 1 and 2. In such cases, it may be desirable to use the physical description and note area to describe the graphic content of the publication.

1996 UPDATE: Optionally, GM may be used for published portfolios consisting primarily of graphic materials. Since GM provides for the treatment of published materials regardless of presentation format, either approach is valid. The decision should be based on an institution's needs, the focus of its collections, and what it chooses to emphasize in the record.

0B. Sources of information

0B1. Chief source of information

0B1.1. For single items, treat as the chief source of information printed or manuscript text provided by the creator or creating body on or with the item. When the text is not known to have been provided by the creator or creating body, use information from the following sources, in this order of preference:

- a) text on or with the item provided by sources other than the creator or creating body;
- b) reference sources, such as published descriptions, catalogues raisonnés, exhibit catalogs, auction catalogs, dealers' catalogs;
- c) any source, such as unpublished descriptions, including provenance and accession records, inventories, advertisements, personal information, etc.

0B1.2. For collections, treat as the chief source the whole collection itself, relying first on textual information on the material and its containers, then accompanying textual material, such as finding aids, provenance and accession records, then the visual content of the material itself.

0B2. Prescribed sources of information

The description is divided into areas, and each area is divided into a number of elements as outlined in the particular rules. For each area of the description (see the listing below), certain sources of information are specially prescribed.

AREA	PRESCRIBED SOURCES OF INFORMATION
1. Title and statement of responsibility	Chief source of information

2. Publication, distribution, Chief source of information etc.

3. Physical description Any source

4. Series Chief source of information

5. Note(s) Any source

Indicate data taken from outside the prescribed sources by enclosing it in square brackets ([]). When these data are transcribed, make a note of the source.

0C. Punctuation

1996 UPDATE: The following punctuation information is appropriate for use in a card catalog format. Institutions using the MARC format should also follow MARC punctuation and tagging conventions outlined in USMARC Format for Bibliographic Data.

0C1. Precede each area other than the first by a period, space, dash, space (. --)² unless the area begins a new paragraph.

0C2. Precede or enclose each occurrence of an element within an area with standard punctuation prescribed at the beginning of each section of this manual.

0C3. Precede each mark of prescribed punctuation by a space and follow it by a space, except for the comma, period, and opening and closing parenthesis and square brackets. The comma, period, and closing parenthesis and closing square bracket are not preceded by a space; the opening parenthesis and opening square bracket are not followed by a space.

0C4. If desirable, record all of the punctuation that is found in the source of information. When this punctuation is recorded, always give the prescribed punctuation as well even if this results in double punctuation. When the original punctuation mark and the prescribed punctuation mark are the same, give only the prescribed punctuation mark. In the latter case, optionally, give both the original and the prescribed punctuation marks.³

³ The Library of Congress will generally follow the conventions of modern punctuation in transcribing information under these rules, adding or substituting marks of punctuation if necessary for clarity. In cases in which the application of 0C5. Do not transcribe the punctuation marks ... or []. Replace them by -- and () respectively (see 1A1.2 for the special spacing prescribed in the title proper).

Transcription:

0C6. Do not indicate the omission of an entire element or area by the mark of omission, but rather continue to the next element or area with its prescribed punctuation (see 0D).

0C7. Indicate omissions made by the cataloger when transcribing data by the mark of omission. Record the mark of omission with a space on both sides of it (...). If the mark of omission precedes a period, omit the period, even if it is prescribed punctuation.

0C8. Indicate lacunae in the source of information where text is being transcribed (as, for example, when the material being cataloged is damaged) by the mark of omission enclosed in square brackets [...].

0C9. When omitting data from the source of information that is not considered part of any area, do not use the mark of omission.

0C10. Do not transcribe a mark of punctuation that precedes the mark of omission unless it is a mark of abbreviation or a period, exclamation mark, or question mark.

0C11. When adjacent elements within one area are to be enclosed in square brackets, enclose them in one set, unless one of the elements is a general material designation, which is always enclosed in its own set of square brackets.

0D. Levels of description

The elements of description provided in this manual constitute a maximum set of information. There are three recommended levels of description. For its graphic collections, an institution may choose only the first level, the first and second, or all three levels, based on the purpose of the catalog or catalogs for which the record is constructed. Include this minimum set of elements for all material cataloged at the chosen level when the elements are applicable to what is being described and when, in the case of optional additions, the institution has chosen to include an optional element. Consult individual rules for the content of the elements to be included.

The first two levels are given below in schematic illustrations with the prescribed punctuation, spacing, and capitalization (see also Example 1).

0D1. First level of description

For the first level of description, include at least the elements set out in this schematic illustration:

a) Unpublished material

Title proper / first statement of responsibility. -- date(s) of execution. -- statement of extent of item or collection. -- Note(s).

b) Published material

Title proper / first statement of responsibility. -- First publisher, etc., date of publication, etc. -- statement of extent of item. -- Note(s).

0D2. Second level of description

For the second level of description, include at least the elements set out in this schematic illustration:

a) Unpublished material

Title proper [general material designation] = Parallel title : other title information / first statement of responsibility ; each subsequent statement of responsibility. -- date(s) of execution. -- statement of extent of item or collection : other physical details ; dimensions. -- (Title proper of series = Parallel title of series ; numbering within the series. Title of subseries ; numbering within sub series). -- Note(s).

b) Published material

Title proper [general material designation] = Parallel title : other title information / first statement of responsibility ; each subsequent statement of responsibility. -- First place of publication : First publisher, date of publication. -- statement of extent of item : other physical details ; dimensions. -- (Title proper of series = Parallel title of series ; numbering within the series. Title of subseries ; numbering within subseries). -- Note(s).

0D3. Third level of description

For the third level of description, include all elements set out in this document that are applicable to the item or collection being cataloged.

0E. Language and script of the description

0E1. In the following areas, give transcribed information in the language and script (wherever practicable) in which it appears:

Title and statement of responsibility area Publication, distribution, etc., area Series area

0E2. Replace symbols or other matter that cannot be reproduced by the typographical facilities available⁴ with a cataloger's description in square brackets. Make an explanatory note, if necessary.

0E3. In general, give interpolations into the above-mentioned areas in the language and script of the other data in those areas. Exceptions are:

⁴ At the Library of Congress, the typographical facilities referred to here and in succeeding rules comprise those characters in the MARC character set.

- a) prescribed interpolations and abbreviations;
- b) general material designations;
- c) other forms of the place of publication, etc.;
- d) statements of function of the publisher, distributor, etc.

0E4. Give any other element (other than titles and quotations in the note area) in English.

0F. Inaccuracies

0F1. Record an inaccuracy or a misspelled word as it appears on the material. Except in cases of deliberate usage, follow such an inaccuracy by "sic" or by the abbreviation "i.e." and the correction within square brackets.

0F2. Do not correct words spelled according to older or non-standard orthographic conventions, e.g., "françoise" for "française."

0G. Accents and other diacritical marks (including capitalization)

0G1. Add accents and other diacritical marks that are omitted from data found in the source of information in accordance with the usage of the language used in context.

0G2. Capitalize or lowercase according to the rules for capitalization in AACR 2, Appendix A.

0H. Abbreviations and initials, etc.

0H1. Do not abbreviate any word unless the particular rule for the element or area allows it.

0H2. Record initials, initialisms, and acronyms without internal spaces, regardless of how they are presented in the source of information. Apply this provision also whether or not these elements are presented with periods.

0J. Interpolations

0J1. Indicate an interpolation (i.e., data taken from outside the prescribed source(s) of information) by enclosing it in square brackets. Indicate a conjectural interpolation by adding a question mark within the square brackets.

1. TITLE AND STATEMENT OF RESPONSIBILITY AREA

Contents:

- 1A. Preliminary rules
- 1B. Title proper
- 1C. Devising titles
- 1D. General material designation
- 1E. Parallel titles
- 1F. Other title information
- 1G. Statements of responsibility

1A. Preliminary rules

1A1. Punctuation

1A1.1. For instructions on the use of spaces before and after prescribed punctuation, see 0D.

Enclose the general material designation in square brackets.

Precede each parallel title by an equal sign (=).

Precede each unit of other title information by a colon (:).

Precede the first statement of responsibility by a diagonal slash (/).

Precede each subsequent statement of responsibility by a semicolon (;).

1A1.2. When replacing "... " in the title proper with "--" (see 0C5), leave a space after the --, unless the dash is at the beginning:

	Getting around-- in Germany
not	Getting around--in Germany

but	--and then there were none
------------	----------------------------

1A1.3. Titles for graphic material will often not lend themselves easily to the application of the prescribed punctuation. If, however, the data can be separated clearly into title proper and other title information, supply the prescribed punctuation.

1A2. Sources of information

The cataloger must decide whether printed or manuscript text in the chief source of information constitutes a title and/or statement of responsibility that can be transcribed for the catalog record.

1A3. Date as part of the title

When a date appears in the source in such a way as to constitute part of the title, transcribe it as such (as part of the title proper or other title information, whichever is appropriate).

Near Sale's house, 23 Oct. 1886, Otago Harbour

General George Washington reviewing the Western
Army at Fort Cumberland the 18th of Octobr. 1794

The Stewart Island trip : on board the Wakatipin,
Christmas Day, 1895

1B. Title proper

1B1. Title proper transcribed from chief source of information for single items

1B1.1. The title proper is the first element of the description. When transcribing the title proper, include all text inseparable from the words of the title, i.e., all words that are linguistically connected or that clearly read together without a break. When the title proper is preceded or followed in the source by elements of information that cannot be considered part of the title, transpose these elements to their appropriate areas in the record (or give them in a note) unless case endings would be affected, the grammatical construction of the data would be disturbed, or the element is otherwise inseparably linked to the title proper. In the latter cases, transcribe the data as found. If desirable, make a note to indicate the original position of these elements.

1B1.2. Transcribe the title proper according to 0B-0J.

1B1.3. When a title in the chief source of information disagrees with one or more other sources, transcribe the title from the chief source and, if it is likely that a catalog user might search for any of the variant titles, make a note of them.

1B1.4. Omit, without using the mark of omission, data that neither constitute title information nor are grammatically or otherwise inseparably linked to the words of the title. Such omitted information may include statements of patronage, mottoes, announcements, prices, and plate, part or volume numbers, etc.

1B1.5. When the beginning words of the text constitute the only title-like information, record them as the title proper.

Sheriff's sale of real estate

H.R. Robinson, 52 Courtland St.

1B1.6. Title elements scattered by layout or typography

When parts of the title are scattered over the item, compose the title proper based on those elements distinguished by position, typography, or size of lettering.

When the title information is arranged decoratively, or other elements of the description (e.g., creator or publisher) are interspersed with the title information, deduce the logical sequence and then record the title in its semantic order.

1B1.7. Multiple titles

When there are different titles in two or more languages or scripts, choose the title proper on the basis of the sequence or layout of the titles. If these are insufficient to enable the choice to be made or are ambiguous, choose the most comprehensive one of the several titles (see also 1E and 1F).

When the same title appears in two or more languages or scripts, transcribe as the title proper the one in the language or script of the main written content. If this criterion is not applicable, choose as the title the one typographically more prominent, by reference to the order of the titles, the layout, or, if necessary, the one easiest to transcribe (see also 1E and 1F3.1).

1B1.8. Discrete images with separate titles

When an item shows two or more discrete images each with a separate title, and it lacks a comprehensive title, record the titles in the order in which they appear or according to the layout. If the images are all by the same creator, separate the titles by space, semicolon, space (;). If the images are by different creators, separate the titles by a period and two spaces (.). In either case, a separate catalog record may be made for each.

Chef der Blut Indianer ; Kriegs Chef der Piékan Indianer ; Kutaná Indianer / [statement of responsibility]
(three images on one sheet; same creator)

1B1.9. Abridging a long title proper

Abridge the transcription of a long title only when it can be done without loss of essential information. (If possible, however, try to retain the entire title for a print or drawing even if it is very long.) Always include the first five words. Omit any unessential words or groups of words after the first five words and indicate gaps by the mark of omission.

1B1.10. Abbreviated title

In case of a severely abbreviated title, in which it would be cumbersome to bracket interpolated letters or words, spell out the title and enclose it in square brackets. If desirable, record the abbreviated title in a note.

Title on item:

Parl. Bldgs. Ottawa 10 Je 79

Title spelled out:

[Parliament buildings, Ottawa, 10 June 1979]

1B1.11. Insufficiently descriptive title

When a title does not accurately or adequately describe the nature and content of the item, supply additional information in the note area (cf. 1B2.3).

1B1.12. Title supplied from another source

When no title is in the chief source, but one is transcribed from another source, enclose it in square brackets. Cite the source in a note.

When no title is in the chief source and two or more sources disagree on the title, either in content or in language, and none can be credited with representing the creator's intent, choose the title from the most authoritative source and transcribe it in square brackets. If appropriate, give one or more of the variant titles in a note if those variant titles are likely to be sought by a catalog user.

When no title is in the chief source and a title is found in a foreign source or different titles are found in two or more foreign sources, record the title as follows:

a) If the title is in the creator's native language and there is evidence that the author or compiler of the source is either using a title given by the creator or quoting a title under which the item was printed or published, transcribe the supplied title in the language as given and enclose it in square brackets. Cite the source in a note.

b) If the foreign language title has been made up by the author or compiler of the source and is in his or her own language (which may or may not be identical with that of the creator), devise a title in English, enclosing it in square brackets (see 1C).

1B1.13. Title on another copy, etc.

When a title is known to exist on another copy, edition, or different state of the item, transcribe the title from that source, enclosing it in square brackets. Make a note of the source.

1B2. Title proper from chief source of information for collections

1B2.1. When a collection is acquired with a title specified by the donor or source, transcribe it as the title.

Pictorial archives of early American architecture

Gilbert H. Grosvenor collection of photographs of the Alexander Graham Bell family

When a suitable collective title appears in a collection, transcribe it as the title.

Photographic views of Kern County, California
(title on loose printed sheet with the collection)

When a name given by the collector or donor is not suitable as a title, and there is no requirement that this title be used, devise a title according to the provisions in 1C. If it is possible that someone would refer to the donor's or collector's title, record the variant title in a note.

1B2.2. Series title

When a clearly identifiable and consistently used series title is provided either on some or all of the items in a series or is found in a reference source, use this as the title proper. When supplied from a reference source, cite the source in a note. If desirable, transcribe the title proper of the individual items themselves in a contents note (see 5B17).

The illustration of the Siberian war

Gems of American life

When a title given on some or all of the items in a series is not consistently used from item to item and one cannot be found in a reference source, choose the one that identifies the series most adequately and succinctly.

1B2.3. Insufficiently descriptive collection title

When a title specified by the donor or source does not accurately or adequately describe the nature and content of the material, additional information, if brief, may be supplied as other title information (see 1F3.3) or, if lengthy, in the note area (cf. 1B1.11).

1C. Devising titles

1C1. Supply a title when there is no title in the chief source of information nor in any other source. Devise a title in English with an attempt to make it distinctive, applying the following provisions.

For single items, devise a brief descriptive title, and enclose it in square brackets.

For collections, devise a brief descriptive title and record it without square brackets. The descriptive statement may include the name of the creator, creating body, collector, or source.

Details of the content, nature, scope, context, motivation, arrangement, etc., of the material may be fully described in the note area.

1C2. For documentary material, give the factual content as far as possible. Include the following elements of information, as appropriate:

- a) an identification of the main subject(s) depicted, i.e., persons, events, activities, and objects;
- b) geographical location(s) depicted, if known and significant;
- c) the date (including month and day, if desirable) or span dates of what is being depicted if different from the date of publication or execution (see also 2F and 2H).

Single items:

work itself.

[Man smoking at window]

[Landscape with winding river]

1D. General material designation (optional addition)¹

Add immediately after the title proper the word "graphic" as the general material designation (GMD).

Single items:

Army at Fort Cumberland the 18th of Octobr. 1794

Springs, and Sturgis, S.D., Colo., and Wyo. [graphic]

¹ In these and some other examples, the general material designation is given so as to make the example clearer. The use of the GMD does not imply that a designation is required.

Geological and anthropological features of Alaska and the Aleutian Islands [graphic]

1E. Parallel titles

Record all parallel titles appearing in the source of information. Transcribe parallel titles in the order indicated by their sequence on, or by the layout of, the source of information. Capitalize the first word of each parallel title.

When the order or layout appears to be entirely random, record the parallel titles in sequence reading from top to bottom and from left to right, where appropriate.

Deutsche Römisch Katholische St. Nicholas Kirche
in New York = German Roman Catholic St. Nicholas

(title proper, GMD, and two parallel titles for a single item)

1F. Other title information

1F1. Record all other title information appearing in the source of information according to the instructions in 0B-0J. Transcribe other title information in the order indicated by the sequence on, or the layout of, the source of information.

(with general material designation)

Transcribe other title information following the title proper or parallel title to which it pertains.

1F2. Abridging other title information

When other title information is very lengthy and can be abridged without loss of essential information, omit less important words or phrases, using the mark of omission. If desired, give in a note other title information that has not been transcribed.

Karen Female Institute, Tounghoo : with the native board of managers ...

1F3. More than one language or script

1F3.1. When a portion of the title proper (but not the whole title proper) is repeated in one or more different languages, transcribe all statements after the first as other title information (cf. 1E).²

Fort Clark am Missouri (Februar 1834) [graphic] :
sur le Missouri (février 1834) : on the Missouri
(February 1834)
(a portion of the title proper is repeated in two other languages, with GMD)

1F3.2. When other title information is repeated in one or more different languages and the title proper is not repeated, transcribe each statement as other title information.

Abraham Lincoln : as president of the United States
: président des Etats-Unis : als Präsident der Vereinigten Staaten

1F3.3. Other title information for collections

When a collection has a formal, traditional, or assigned title but otherwise lacks specific information making the form and/or nature of the material clear, such information, if brief, may be added as other title information. Record it in ² This looks suspiciously like parallel titles. However, because the catalog record would be considerably lengthened by unnecessary repetition of the non-parallel portion of the title proper and because this is a means of reflecting more precisely what appears on a graphic item, they are treated as other title information.

1G. Statements of responsibility

Record the names of persons and corporate bodies having contributed to the creative and intellectual content of the material being cataloged, that is, designers, draftsmen, painters, photographers, printmakers, and illustrators (both individuals and corporate bodies). Do not record names of previous owners and collectors in the statement of responsibility, but rather in a note regarding provenance.

1G1. Record a single statement of responsibility³ as it appears.

/ drawn, engraved & published by W. Birch

/ painted by T. and W. Birch

1G2. For single items, transcribe the statement of responsibility as it appears in the source.

F.S. Chanfrau in the character of "Mose" : as originally written for, and performed by him ... / James Brown, del.

1G3. For collections, transcribe names as they appear most frequently in the collection. If this does not apply, record them in a standardized way, that is, always in the same form and with the same spelling.

frequently; full name is known to be Charles Dudley Arnold)

1G4. When there are two or more statements of responsibility, record them in the order indicated by their sequence on, or by the layout of, the source of information for the second and third levels of description. If the sequence and layout are ambiguous or insufficient to determine the order, record the statements in the order that makes the most sense.

1G5. When up to three persons or corporate bodies named in the source of information performed the same function or had the same degree of responsibility, record all the names mentioned. If, however, the number of responsible persons or bodies is more than three or some are unidentified, record the names or information about responsibility in a note.

1G6. Attributions

1996 UPDATE: Optionally, Use instead: 5B7.2. This option reflects AACR2 practice of including attribution statements in a note. See corresponding AACR2 rules 1.1F2 and 1.7B6.

Do not make an attribution unless there is strong supporting evidence.

Record such a supplied name in a standardized way. For single items, enclose it in square brackets. For collections, do not enclose it in square brackets. If necessary, give an explanatory note.

1G9. Information associated with statement of responsibility on single unpublished items

2. PUBLICATION, DISTRIBUTION, ETC., AREA

Contents:

- 2A. Preliminary rules
- 2B. General rules
- 2C. Place of publication, distribution, etc.
- 2D. Name of publisher, distributor, etc.
- 2E. Statement of function of publisher, distributor, etc.
- 2F. Date of publication, distribution, etc.
- 2G. Place and name of manufacturer or printer and date
- 2H. Date of execution of unpublished material

2A. Preliminary rules

2A1. Use the publication, distribution, etc., area to record information about the place, name, and date of publication and/or distribution, as well as all types of printing, manufacturing and sponsor-advertiser activities considered by the cataloging agency to be important for graphic materials that have been commercially produced.

For unpublished material, this area consists only of the date element (see 2H).

2A2. Punctuation

For instructions on the use of spaces before and after prescribed punctuation, see OD.

Precede the publication, distribution, etc., area by period, space, dash, space (. --).

Precede a second and any subsequently named place of publication by a semicolon (;), eliminating any linking word or phrase given in the source.

Precede the name of a publisher, distributor, etc., by a colon (:).
Precede the name of a second and any subsequent publisher by a colon unless a linking word or phrase is given in the source.

Enclose a supplied statement of function in square brackets.

Precede the date of publication, distribution, etc., by a comma (,).

Enclose the details of printer or manufacturer in parentheses.

Precede the name of a printer or manufacturer by a colon (:).

Precede the date of printing or manufacture by a comma (,).

If the publication, distribution, etc., area precedes a new paragraph, end it with a mark of final punctuation, i.e., a period, closing parenthesis, closing bracket, or question mark.

2A3. Sources of information

Record the elements of data in the prescribed order, even if this means transposing data, unless case endings are affected, or the grammatical construction of the data would be disturbed, or one element is inseparably linked with another. In the latter case, transcribe the data as found.

2B. General rules

2B1. Printer equivalent to publisher

When no publisher is named but a printer is, assume that the printer is equivalent to the publisher and follow the provisions given below for publishers.

2B2. Printer and publisher explicitly stated

When a printer is given in addition to the publisher and is considered important, give the details of printing in parentheses after the publisher (see also 2G). The same may be done with manufacturers that are considered important. In case of doubt about whether a named agency is a publisher or a manufacturer, treat it as a publisher.

2C7. When the place of publication appears only as part of another area or appears as an integral part of the publisher statement, transcribe it as such, and repeat the place of publication as the first element of the publication area. 2C10.3. If, when supplying a place of publication, the reason for supplying the place is not apparent from the rest of the description, give in a note the source of such information.

2C11. More than one language or script

When the name of the place of publication appears in more than one language or script, give the statement in the language or script of the title proper, or if this criterion does not apply, give the statement that appears first. Give the parallel statement in a note, if desirable.

2C12. No place of publication

When no place or probable place can be supplied, give the abbreviation "s.l." (sine loco), in square brackets. Capitalize only the "s" of "s.l."

2D. Name of publisher, distributor, etc.

2D1. Give the name of the publisher, etc., following the place(s) to which it relates. Transcribe the name of publisher, etc., in the full form and grammatical case (with associated words and phrases) in which it appears in the source.

2D2. When there is more than one statement relating to publishers, etc., generally record them all in the order in which they appear or according to the typography and layout. Separate the parts of a complex publisher statement only if they are presented separately on the material (i.e., not linked by connecting words or phrases).

2D3. Qualifications, such as "printer to the King," are generally omitted. Insignificant information in the middle or at the end of the publisher statement may be omitted. Addresses are also generally omitted unless they aid in identifying the material. Indicate all omissions by the mark of omission. (However, see 2F2.)

On source:

Transcription, with mark of omission for the address:

London : Published by Ackermann & Co. ...

2D4. Transcribe a place of publication appearing in the text of the publisher statement as part of the publisher statement, but also record it in square brackets as the first element of the publication area (see 2C7 above).

2D5. When, in cataloging a collection of published items having a series title and the same publisher, the name or form of name of the publisher is found to change in the course of publication, give the publisher statement of the later part(s) in a note (see also 2C6).

2D6. When only the address, district, or sign of the publisher is given in the source of information, record the name of the publisher in square brackets, if known, either before or after the address or sign, as appropriate. If necessary, give the source of this information in a note.

2D7. Enclose the name of the publisher in square brackets if it is inferred from a device, even if the device includes the publisher's initials or spelled-out name. Give a note to support the inference and cite a source of verification, if necessary.

2D8. When no name, address, or device of a publisher appears in the source, supply the name of the publisher in square brackets, if known. When the responsibility of a publisher for a particular item is uncertain or speculative, either add a question mark to any supplied name or give the information in a note. Give supporting evidence in a note, if necessary.

2D9. Publisher unknown

When no name can be given as that of the publisher, supply the abbreviation "s.n." (sine nomine) in square brackets. Do not capitalize the "s" of "s.n."

2D10. When the name of the publisher appears in more than one language or script, give the statement in the language or script of the title proper, or if this criterion does not apply, give the statement that appears first. Give parallel statements in a note, if desirable.

2E. Statement of function of publisher, distributor, etc. (optional addition)

Add to the name of a publisher, etc., one of the following terms, in square brackets, indicating function:

distributor
manufacturer printer publisher
sponsor-advertiser

unless

- a) the phrase naming the publisher, etc., includes words that indicate the function performed by person(s) or body (bodies) named; or
- b) the function of the publishing, etc., agency is clear from the context.

2F. Date of publication, distribution, etc.

2F1. Give the date or span dates of commercial publication, etc., as a year or years. Optionally, include the month and day as found on the material. Change roman numerals indicating the year to arabic numerals unless they are erroneous or misprinted (see 2F3). Omit words and phrases such as "printed in the year" and

2F3. Fictitious or incorrect date

When the year of publication or printing is known to be fictitious or incorrect, or has been misprinted, record it as given and follow it by the abbreviation "i.e." and the correction in square brackets.

, 1812 [i.e. 1813]

2F4. Copyright dates

2F4.1. When the dates of publication, distribution, etc., are unknown, give the copyright date or, in its absence, the date of manufacture (indicated as such) in its place. Use the abbreviation "c" for copyright and follow it by the year without spacing.

c1967

, 1967 printing

2F4.2. When giving the copyright date, omit phrases such as "Entered according to Act of Congress in the year...", without using the mark of omission.

2F4.3. Optional addition. Add the date of copyright following the publication date if they differ.

1996 UPDATE: Add the date of copyright following the publication date, even if the dates are the same year.

1967, c1965

2F5.2. As a last resort with single items, for which no date can be conjectured, use the abbreviation "s.d." (sine datum) in square brackets.

1996 UPDATE: Optionally, always provide a date.

2F6. In describing a collection consisting of items published over a number of years, record the date of the first published item and the last published item and connect them by a hyphen.

, 1845-1860

When the order of publication dates does not correspond to the order of the item numeration, record the date of each item in a note, if desirable.

2H1. Give the date or span dates of execution as a year or years. Optionally, for single items, include month and day as found on the material.

1996 UPDATE: Optionally, for collections, indicate dates or date spans most heavily represented within the collection as a bulk date.

, 1886, c1892

Views of Oklahoma / J.V. Dedrick. -- 1908, c1909.

, 1918, c1918

1996 UPDATE:

2H2.1 Optionally, for photographs, add the date of printing or publication when it differs significantly from the date when the image (i.e, negative) was made.

[photographed 1863, printed 1970]

2H3. When the date of execution is an integral part of the transcribed title on a single item, transcribe it as such, and repeat it in square brackets as the date element in the publication, distribution, etc., area (see 1A3, 1B1.1).

1996 UPDATE: Optionally, always devise a date to provide some chronological information even if it is only an estimate of several centuries.

3. PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION AREA

Contents:

- 3A. Preliminary rules
- 3B. Statement of extent (including specific material designation)
- 3C. Other physical details
- 3D. Dimensions
- 3E. Accompanying material
- 3F. Collections containing more than one distinct category of material

3A. Preliminary rules

3A1. The statement of physical characteristics gives:

- a) an indication of the extent (e.g., number of physical units);
- b) specific material designation--an indication of the medium or format of the material (and in some cases both)
- c) an indication of the material upon which the image(s) is printed or executed (primary support), if significant;
- d) an indication of the material upon which the image is mounted (secondary support), if significant;
- e) other details of physical description, as appropriate;
- f) dimensions;
- g) an indication of accompanying material.

The specific rules given below provide for aspects of exceptional physical description, as dictated by the nature of a particular medium or format. Examples in this area are intended to illustrate specific points only. Not all the elements that would be required in a full catalog record are provided in each case.

3A2. Punctuation

For instructions on the use of spaces before and after prescribed punctuation, see 0D.

Precede the physical description area by a period, space, dash, space (. --) or start a new paragraph.¹

Precede other physical details by a colon (:).

Precede dimensions by a semicolon (;).

Precede a statement of accompanying material by a plus sign (+).

Enclose physical details of accompanying material in parentheses.

Normally, an area begins with a capital letter, but in the physical description area start instead with the lower case (e.g., ca. 2,500 items).

End the physical description area with a period unless it already ends with a closing parenthesis or mark of abbreviation (e.g., cm.).

3A3. Sources of information

Take information for the physical description area from any source. Take explicitly or implicitly stated information from the material itself.

3B. Statement of extent (including the specific material designation)

3B1. There are four ways² of stating the extent; indicate the number by an arabic numeral. Record 1 if there is only one item unit, even if implicit in the use of the specific material designation in the singular. For special additions, see 3B6. See also 3C4.2.

a) Record the exact number of single items.

1 drawing

4,945 transparencies

16 pictures

b) Record the approximate number of single items.

ca. 465 prints

ca. 2,500 photographic prints

² The methods a through d and the special additions provided for in 3B6 obviously offer several possibilities in the level of detail that can be achieved. It is recognized that institutions will set their own policies in this respect.

c) Record the number of containers or volumes.³

1 portfolio

8 albums

65 boxes

d) Record the linear (i.e., length of shelf or file drawer) or cubic measurement.

56 ft.

24 m.

6.3 cu. ft.

1996 UPDATE: The Library of Congress Prints and Photographs Division rarely describes collections in terms of linear feet, but provides this as an option to those institutions wishing to follow manuscript cataloging guidelines for certain collections.

3B2. Later addition of material to a collection

It is recognized that when collections are cataloged there may be a need to provide for the later addition of material, as when new material is accessioned from the same source as an already cataloged collection, and it is appropriate to add it. Under these circumstances, portions of the record are naturally subject to change (usually the statement of extent), with a final statement of exact contents when the decision is made to close the collection. It may, however, instead be desirable to catalog the addition separately, linking it to the collection by a note (see 5B22).

3B3. Series

Record the number of items in a series according to what is in hand. If the series is evidently incomplete, as when numbers in the sequence are missing, make an explanatory note about what is wanting.

³ The Library of Congress generally does not record the number of containers or volumes unless they are contemporary with the material contained in them, they are an integral part of the material, or the number of items is very large and only a box or volume count is being given. Thus, if the Library has put a collection of 35 prints in 6 storage boxes, the statement of extent is 35 prints. If the Library has put a carte de visite album in 1 storage box, the statement of extent is 1 album. However, if the Library has put a large collection of items that are too numerous to count into 25 storage boxes, the statement of extent is 25 boxes.

3B4. Information on the component parts of a collection

When a collection is being described and a more specific statement of extent is desirable, add the number of component parts in parentheses. This additional statement may show a single figure representing the total number of components or it may show multiple figures representing the subtotal for the different categories of material within a container or volume. When such details are numerous or complex, give them in the note area. For complex collections, see also 3F.

1996 UPDATE: "Collection" here is meant in the broadest sense and can signify any material with component parts, e.g., albums, portfolios.

1 portfolio (40 lithographs)

1 album (78 cartes de visite photographic prints)

6 albums (127 photographic prints)

7 m. (ca. 8,000 items)

5 ft. (14 albums, 6 boxes)

3 sketchbooks (92 drawings)

155 photographic prints (101 gelatin silver prints, 54 albumen prints)

4 albums (65 photographic prints, 2 broadsides, 3 postcards)

16 prints (10 woodcuts, 6 wood engravings)

ca. 45,500 contact sheets (1,182,500 images)

3B5. Specific material designation

Choose a term from the list below for the specific material designation (SMD). If desirable, give further description in other physical details (see 3C) and in the note area. The material on which the image has been printed or executed and the mounting may also be of significance and are then included with the specific material designation (see 3B6.3 and 3B6.4).

1996 UPDATE:

The SMD list is deliberately limited to a few general terms that can be readily recognized by a broad range of catalog users, from persons unfamiliar with terminology for graphic media to those with more specialized expertise. The SMD can optionally be followed by more specific terminology for the media (see 3C).

20 photographic prints : megalethoscope.

1996 UPDATE:

3B5.1 Optionally, expand the SMD to include terms describing both physical media and format, by adding the format in parentheses after the general SMD.

25 photographic prints (postcards)

1 negative (stereograph)

1996 UPDATE:

3B5.2 Optionally, use any term from an established vocabulary source or a published thesaurus.

20 megalethoscope prints

3B6. Special additions to the extent statement and the specific material designation

3B6.1. Multiple images

When more than one discrete image is on the same side of a single support, indicate this in parentheses.

2 drawings (1 sheet)

Optionally, make a separate record for each image and make a note as to their relationship.

3B6.2. Multiple sheets composing one image

When a single image consists of more than one sheet, indicate the number of sheets in parentheses.

1 print (24 sheets)

3B6.3. Primary support (optional addition)

Expand the extent statement to specify the type of material for the primary support when this would convey significant information. Some typical cases are:

- a) the material is unusual as a support for the image medium or it cannot reliably be inferred from the specific material designation;
- b) such features of the material as texture, color, or weight are unusually important in relation to the image;
- c) the support needs to be described so as to make the catalog record distinctive.

1 painting on wood

1 print on gold paper

2 drawings on green laid paper (1 sheet)

1 photographic print on leather

3B6.4. Secondary support (optional addition)

Normally, information on the secondary support is not given as part of the expansion of the extent statement. However, an image with secondary support may be noted if the mount or mat is of historical, informational, aesthetic, or archival importance.

1 photographic print mounted on cardboard

12 photographic prints on cartes de visite mounts

39 photographic prints on stereo cards

125 photographic prints on cabinet cards

1 drawing mounted on plywood

28 photographic prints on printed mounts

1 print (3 sheets) mounted on masonite

35 slides in metal mounts with glass

275 slides in plastic mounts

3C. Other physical details⁴

The second major element of the physical description area is a statement that:

- a) describes more specifically the means by which the image was produced;
- b) gives an indication of color;
- c) describes the means by which text with the image was produced.

3C1. Punctuation

For instructions on the use of spaces before and after prescribed punctuation, see 0D.

Separate this element from the specific material designation by a colon (:).

Separate each part of the description of other physical details by a comma or conjunction.

1 print : woodcut, with text in letterpress

1 negative : glass, collodion

⁴ Each institution must determine the specificity necessary for describing graphic media. If the holdings are solely graphics and the users tend to be specialists, media descriptions may be at a very specific level, e.g.,

16 prints : woodcut

1 photographic print : albumen, gold toned

1 print : lithograph

If, on the other hand, the holdings are to be used by researchers primarily interested in subject content rather than differences in media, the description may be at a more general level, that is basically the SMD and perhaps an indication of color (see 3C4).

1 drawing : silverpoint

1 painting on paper : oil

1 print : lithograph, color

1 painting : watercolor

155 photographic prints : gelatin silver, albumen

3C2. Photographic materials

3C2.1. If desirable for photographic prints, give the trade name or other technical specification. Always indicate when a photographic print is negative.

1 photographic print : salted paper

6 photographic prints : cyanotype

1 photographic print : Kodak bull's eye

15 photographic prints : negative

3C2.2. With negatives, specify the base of the emulsion if it is other than safety film.

1 negative
(i.e., safety film)

655 negatives : nitrate

25 negatives : glass, stereograph

Optionally, always specify the base.

1 negative : safety film

3C2.3. If desirable for transparencies and slides, give the trade name or other technical specification.

12 transparencies : Kodacolor

27 slides : lantern

3C2.4. With stereographs, add the word "half," as appropriate.

1 photographic print on stereo card : stereograph
(i.e., a full stereograph)

25 photographic prints : half stereograph

3C2.5. With photomechanical prints, give the method of reproduction (photogravure, collotype, or whatever term is used on the material).

1 photomechanical print : photogravure

1 photomechanical print : rotogravure

25 photomechanical prints : halftone

37 photomechanical prints : woodburytype

3C3. Multiple techniques or processes

3C3.1. When multiple techniques or processes are identified in a single graphic item, name each, with the predominant technique, if any, named first. Terms for medium, technique, process, and format may be freely combined with the use of conjunctions and prepositions as necessary.

1 print : drypoint, sandpaper, and roulette

1 drawing : watercolor, gouache and pen and brown ink over pencil, with gum arabic and scraping out

1 collage : photographic prints, newspaper clippings, paint

1 print : drypoint and aquatint

3C3.2. When multiple techniques or processes are known to have been applied but are unidentified, use the terms "mixed media" or "multiple processes," as appropriate.

1 print : mixed media, including etching, mezzotint, drypoint, reversed soft ground engraving, electric stippler, scraping, and burnishing

1 photographic print : multiple processes

3C4. Color

3C4.1. Indicate if the image(s) is colored, hand colored, tinted, or toned. (For paintings, an indication of color is usually unnecessary.) When hand coloring is known to have been done after the image was originally issued, make an explanatory note. If desirable, indicate if the image(s) is black and white. Use the abbreviations "col." (colored), "hand col." (hand colored), and "b&w" (black and white).

1996 UPDATE: Optionally, use only "color" and "hand-colored" and do not abbreviate. Color refers to material in which color is an inherent part of the original creation. Hand-colored refers to materials to which color is applied in a later stage, by hand, stencil, or other method. When in doubt as to whether a piece is hand-colored, use color.

1 print (12 sheets) mounted on linen : woodcut, hand-colored

1 photographic print : col.

1 transparency : Kodachrome

1 print on green laid paper : etching and drypoint, blue ink

1 transparency : b&w

15 photographic prints : albumen, gold toned

1 photographic print : gum bichromate, black

3C4.2. The presence of some color images in a collection may be indicated either in a general way or the specific number may be given.

125 photographic prints : many color

50 prints (25 woodcuts, 25 etchings) : some hand-colored

45 photographic prints : some sepia toned

61 photographic prints : albumen, some gold toned

45 photographic prints : 27 color

12 slides : lantern, 7 hand-colored

3C4.3. Optionally, for lithographs give the number of colors (i.e., stones) and, if desired, enumerate the colors in a note.

1 print : lithograph, 2 colors

1 print : chromolithograph, 7 colors

3D. Dimensions

The measurement of graphic materials to produce a statement of dimensions for the catalog record is an important activity, since dimensions aid in identifying the material and also in calculating space requirements for storage or exhibition. Different types of graphic material require different types of measurements to reflect adequately the size of the image or the whole item. Both the primary and secondary supports of images may also figure importantly in measurements.

3D1. Punctuation

For instructions on the use of spaces before and after prescribed punctuation, see 0D.

Precede the dimensions with a semicolon (;).

3D2. General rules

3D2.1. Generally, the statement of dimension shows the height x width. The side for height and the side for width are determined with reference to the position in which the image would be viewed. Height is always expressed first.

1 drawing ; 18 x 14 cm.

3D2.2. Generally, give the height x width for all graphics in centimeters rounded off to the next whole centimeter up (e.g., if a measurement is 37.1 centimeters, record it as 38 cm.). Use the abbreviation "cm." The following rules give guidance for special cases.

Optionally, for single items, give the dimensions to the nearest millimeter.

Since the size of some photographic materials is standardized in the trade in inches or millimeters, the standard size may optionally be given in these cases. Use the abbreviations "in." and "mm."

1 drawing ; 15 x 18 cm.

1 photographic print ; 10 x 8 in.

1 negative ; 35 mm.

Optional addition. Add inches in parentheses after the metric size, rounding off the size up to the next quarter inch. (When using the option of measuring to the nearest millimeter, give the additional size to the nearest eighth inch.)

1 print ; 20 x 25 cm. (8 x 9 3/4 in.)

3D3. Single items

3D3.1. For single drawings and planographic and relief prints, generally record the dimensions of the pictorial area, specified as such. If desirable, record the dimensions of the pictorial area including printed text. For single intaglio prints, record the dimensions of the plate mark (see also 3D5). In any case, precede the dimension by the aspect that has been measured, that is, "image," "image and text," "plate mark," or "sheet."

1 drawing ; image 16 x 15 cm.

1 print ; plate mark 27 x 34 cm.

1 print ; image and text 67 x 44 cm.

1 print : lithograph ; sheet 100 x 70 cm.

3D3.2. When an image consists of more than one sheet, measure the whole sheet.

1 picture (4 sheets) ; full sheet 220 x 120 cm.

Optionally, when the sheet sizes are uniform, give the individual sheet sizes.

1 picture (4 sheets) ; each sheet 110 x 60 cm.

3D3.3. For unmounted photographic prints and those not on standard mounts, generally record the dimensions of the primary support.

1 photographic print ; 10 x 8 in.

1 photographic print ; 14 x 16 cm.

3D3.4. For photographic prints affixed to standard mounts, such as cabinet cards, record only the dimensions of the mount.

1 photographic print on stereo card : stereograph ; 9 x 18 cm.

1 photographic print on cabinet card : sepia toned ; 17 x 11 cm.

1 photographic print on cartes de visite mount ; 11 x 6 cm.

3D3.5. For negatives, record only the dimensions of the base of the emulsion.

1 negative ; 35 mm.

1 negative : glass ; 4 x 5 in.

3D3.6. Optional addition. Add other dimensions that help to identify the item (e.g., when there is a large difference between the image and primary support size) or that help to assess storage or exhibition requirements. Specify the aspect that has been measured. Separate each additional dimension by a comma.

1 print : etching ; plate mark 49 x 51 cm., on sheet 68 x 72 cm.

1 photographic print ; image 7 x 5 in., on sheet 10 x 8 in.

1 drawing : pen and India ink ; image 13 x 14 cm., on sheet 33 x 42 cm.

3D4. Nonrectangular and irregular shapes

3D4.1. For circular shapes, give the diameter, specified as such. Use the abbreviation "diam."

1 print : mezzotint ; diam. image 6 cm., plate mark 8 x 7 cm., on sheet 24 x 17 cm.

1 photographic print : Kodak bull's eye ; diam. image 5 cm., on sheet 16 x 14 cm.

3D4.2. For oval shapes, give the major and minor axes, specified as "oval."

1 print ; oval image 7 x 5 cm.

3D4.3. For an irregular shape, measure by squaring it off at the greatest points with two transparent triangles or strips of plastic. Use the abbreviation "irreg." and, if desirable, whatever word or phrase describes the shape.

1 collage : photographic prints, newspaper clippings, paint ; irreg. pentagon image 41 x 36 cm., on sheet 57 x 48 cm.

3D5. Intaglio prints on trimmed sheets or with eradicated plate marks

When a sheet has been cut on or inside the plate mark subsequent to the creation of an intaglio print or the plate mark is indistinguishable, give the dimensions of the sheet and explain in a note.

3D6. Folded items

When an item is kept folded, give the dimensions of the primary support and add the dimensions when folded.

1 print ; 36 x 63 cm., folded to 10 x 20 cm.

3D7. Sight measurements and framed items

3D7.1. When the full image is not visible because of a non-removable mat or other obstruction, give the sight measurements and, if desirable, the dimensions of the mat, etc.

1 print : lithograph ; visible image 26 x 30 cm., in mat 34 x 38 cm.
(window mat and backing are glued together)

1 photographic print : daguerreotype ; visible oval image 7 x 6 cm., in case 11 x 9 cm.

3D7.2. When the item is in a frame of specific historical importance, the frame is considered a part of the work itself, or the work is permanently framed at the request of the creator or donor, give the dimensions of the frame separately, specified as such.

1 painting ; visible image 30 x 24 cm., in frame 47 x 41 cm.

3D8. Daguerreotypes

With daguerreotypes, specify the plate size, if known.

1 photographic print : ninth plate daguerreotype ; 7 x 6 cm.

3D9. Collections

3D9.1. In general, give the measurements for a collection according to the terms of the first statement of extent and record only the outside dimensions. When some images are designed to be viewed horizontally and some vertically, give the measurements according to the majority.

75 photographic prints ; 7 x 9 in.

- b) Record the name and details of the accompanying material in a note (see 5B10 below).

Optional addition. If method a is applied and further physical description is desired, add a statement of extent, other physical details, and dimensions of the accompanying material as appropriate. Formulate such additional descriptions in accordance with the rules for physical description and rules for other types of materials found in the special chapters in AACR 2.

4. SERIES AREA

Contents:

- 4A. Preliminary rules
- 4B. Title proper of series
- 4C. Parallel title of series
- 4D. Numbering within series
- 4E. Subseries

4A. Preliminary rules

4A1. Use the series area only when cataloging a single item that bears a series title.

4A2. Punctuation

For instructions on the use of spaces before and after prescribed punctuation, see 0D.

Precede the series area by period, dash (. --).

Enclose each series statement in parentheses.

Precede a parallel series title by an equal sign (=).

Precede the numbering within a series or subseries by a semicolon (;).

Precede the title of a subseries by period, space (.).

4A3. Sources of information

Take information recorded in the series area from the chief source of information as outlined in 0B1.1.

4B. Title proper of series

4B1. Transcribe the title proper of the series from the chief source of information according to the provisions in 1B, using only those that apply to titles transcribed from the item.

London's country

The famous Rahl & Bradley living bronze statues

4B2. Variant form of the title proper of the series

When the item being cataloged is from a series whose chosen title proper varies from the one appearing on the item (see 1B2.2), use the same form as was used for the collection. Give the variant form in a note, if it is of value in identifying the work.

4C. Parallel title of series

Follow the instructions in 1E when recording the parallel title of a series for the second or third level of description.

4D. Numbering within series

4D1. Record the numbering of the item within the series in the terms given on the item. Be sure that it is a designation given either by the publisher or creator that applies to the group of items to which the one being cataloged is related. (Record numbers used to designate negatives, plates, etc., in the note area). Use standard abbreviations found in AACR 2, Appendix B and substitute arabic numerals for other numerals or spelled out numbers (see AACR 2, Appendix C). Substitute "no." for the symbol "#."

The illustration of the Siberian war ; no. 3

4D2. Other designations

When the item has a designation other than a number, give the designation as found.

; pl. A

4E. Subseries

When an item is one of a subseries and both the series and the subseries are named in the chief source of information, give the title proper of the main series first and follow it with the title of the subseries.

Gems of American life. American beauties ; no. 15

5. NOTE AREA

When the description in the areas preceding the note area does not clearly identify the material being cataloged, make all notes necessary for unambiguous identification. Notes qualify and amplify the formal description, including instances where the rules do not allow certain information to be placed there.¹ They can, therefore, deal with any aspect of the material.

By their very nature, notes cannot be enumerated exhaustively, but they can be categorized in terms of the area of the description. In addition, there are notes that do not correspond to formal description. It may be useful to group notes that refer to more than one area, for instance when they are all based on one source. When appropriate, refer to a detailed description in an authoritative source, or use both notes and the reference to the authoritative source.

Contents:

5A. Preliminary rules

5B. Notes

5A. Preliminary rules

5A1. Punctuation

Begin the note area with a new paragraph.

Precede each note by period, space, dash, space (. --), or start a new paragraph for each note. End each paragraph with a period or other mark of final punctuation, e.g., closing parenthesis or square bracket.

Separate introductory wording from the main content of a note by colon, space (:). If desirable, capitalize, italicize, underline, or otherwise emphasize such introductory wording.

5A2. Sources of information

Take information recorded in notes from any suitable source. Use square brackets only for interpolations within quotations.

¹ It should be remembered that access points are not necessarily obtained solely from the body of the entry. In theory, any piece of information in the note area can be chosen by the cataloging institution as an access point in order to make the material as accessible as possible.

5A3. Form of notes

When data in a note correspond to data found in the title and statement of responsibility, publication, distribution, etc., physical description, and series areas, give the elements of the data in the order in which they would appear in those areas. In such a case, use the prescribed punctuation, except substitute a period for a period, space, dash, space.

Originally printed: London : Gray, 1879

Plate from: Great expectations realized : or, Civilizing mountain men / by Mrs. Ellen H.B. Mason. Philadelphia : American Baptist Publication Society, 1862.

Other notes may be concerned with publication or distribution subsequent to creation and with matters of collections management.

Quotations

Give quotations from the material or from other sources in quotation marks. Follow the quotation by an indication of its source (separated by a dash), unless that source is the chief source of information. It may be desirable to pinpoint the location of the quotation on the chief source. Do not use prescribed punctuation in quotations.

"Du Tahiti lointain ce qu'y vit Gauguin une idole repue"--penned note in lower left margin.

References

Make reference to text on the material, or in other sources, if these either support the cataloger's own assertions or save repetition in the catalog entry of information readily available from other sources.

Formal notes

Use formal notes employing an invariable introductory word or phrase or a standard verbal formula when uniformity of presentation assists in the recognition of the type of information being presented or when its use gives economy of space without loss of clarity.

Informal notes

When making informal notes, use statements that present the information as briefly as clarity, comprehension, and grammar permit.

5B. Notes

A general outline of types of notes follows; notes other than those provided for may be made if desired. Specific applications of many of these notes are provided in the preceding sections. Make notes as called for in the following sub-rules, and, generally, in the order in which they are listed here. When appropriate, combine two or more notes to make one note. Institutional policy may dictate the order of notes.

5B1. Source of title proper

Always make a note on the source of the title proper transcribed from a reference source; record the source also when the title proper has been taken from accessories to the material even if they form part of the chief source of information.

Title from:
(cite the reference)

Title from frame inscription.

Title from cover.

Title from printed label affixed to verso of Library's copy.

5B2. Variations in title

Make notes on titles borne by the material other than the one chosen as the title proper. Make a note on variations found in reference sources, if it helps to identify the material.

Manuscript title on verso: Mrs. Humphrey's garden.

Title inscribed by artist: Romany Marye's.

Title varies on no. 2 and 6: Illustration from the Siberian War.

Same image published with other titles: Bird's-eye view of Cincinnati; Cincinnati, 1878.

Make notes on parallel titles appearing on the material that have not been transcribed in the body of the entry; also give other title information appearing on the material, if considered important.

5B4. Continuation of title

If desirable, complete the transcription if the title proper and/or other title information was abridged in the description.

Title continues: ... as originally written for, and performed by him at the Olympic and Chatham Theatres, New York.

5B5. Translation of foreign title

If desirable, give the translation of a foreign language title.

Title translated: Landscape with plane trees.

5B6. Picture caption

When the pictorial element of a single work with text (e.g., a poster or broadside) has a distinctive caption independent of the chosen title, give it in a note introduced by the words "Picture caption." Headings and mottoes may be similarly described with the appropriate label.

Picture caption: No, Ma'am, no! I am not a damaged article.

Motto above title: Good cards make card games enjoyable.

5B7. Statements of responsibility

Make notes to convey the following information:

- a) variant names of persons or corporate bodies named in statements of responsibility if these are considered important for identification;
- b) statements of responsibility not recorded in the title and statement of responsibility area;
- c) names of persons or corporate bodies connected with the material if they have not already been named in the description.

Information that places the material in a proper context and conjectural statements may be included. Extrapolations, conjectures, and educated guesses should be clearly indicated by wording or a question mark.

For a collection include, as appropriate: date or span dates and bulk dates depicted; the most significant topic(s), event(s), person(s), place(s), etc.; arrangement; and remarks on printed or handwritten explanatory or identifying text and the language. APPENDIX C: Glossary

The definitions in this glossary reflect usage in the context of these rules. Most are from the glossary of the Anglo-American Cataloguing Rules, sometimes modified to clarify their application in this document.

Access point. A name, term, code, etc., under which a catalog record may be searched and identified.

Accession. Material taken into physical and legal custody of a repository (q.v.). See also Deposit.

Accompanying material. Generally, textual material meant to be used in conjunction with an item or collection. May also include maps, charts, plans, sound recordings, etc.

Added entry. An entry, additional to the main entry, by which an item or collection is represented in a catalog; a secondary entry. See also Main entry.

After. Indicates a print made from another work (e.g, a drawing, painting, photographic print), by a second artist or craftsman. See also Reproductive print.

Alternative title. The second part of a title proper (q.v.) that consists of two parts, each of which is a title; the parts are joined by the word "or" or its equivalent in another language, e.g., "The tempest, or, The enchanted island."

Area. A major section of the description, comprising data of a particular category or set of categories. For original and historical graphic materials, the areas are: (1) Title and statement of responsibility; (2) Publication, distribution, etc. (which includes date of execution for unpublished materials); (3) Physical description; (4) Series; (5) Note(s). Each area is divided into a number of elements (q.v.).

Attribution. Ascribing of a work to a particular artist or photographer.

Bequest. Material given or left to a repository (q.v.) in a will.

Blind stamp. A device embossed or impressed without ink onto the paper used for a print or photographic print, usually to identify the creator, printer, or publisher.

Body of the entry. The portion of the catalog description that begins with the title and ends with the date of publication or execution. See also Imprint.

Bulk dates. In a collection, date(s) for which there is the most material.

Ca. See Circa.

Catalog. 1. A list of materials contained in a collection, an institution, or group of institutions, arranged according to some definite plan. 2. In a wider sense, a list of materials prepared for a particular purpose, e.g., an exhibit catalog, a sales catalog.

Catalogue raisonné. (French) A systematic and comprehensive annotated listing of all works of a creator in a particular medium or all media. Provides essential information by which individual works are identified.

Chief source of information. The source of data to be given first preference as the source from which a catalog description (or portion thereof) is prepared.

Circa. (Latin) Approximately. Use the abbreviation "ca.," e.g., ca. 600 prints, ca. 8 ft., ca. 1875.

Collage. A work created by affixing various materials (paper, wood, newspaper, cloth) to a picture surface.

Collection. A group of graphic items, including associated materials, either acquired by the repository as an existing collection or assembled by the repository into a unit for cataloging purposes. The items, whether individually published or not, do not as a collection constitute a multipart publication. However they were formed, a collection is cataloged as a unit in order to reflect one or more of the following characteristics: (1) the items are the product or collection of one or more persons or family group; (2) the items are the product or collection of a corporate body; (3) the items represent the creative effort of one person, group, or corporate body; (4) the items were brought together by a collector, and it is necessary or desirable to maintain them as a unit even if there are disparate subjects or different formats; (5) the items were designated a "collection" at the time of accessioning, with the requirement that the items not be disseminated; (6) the items have inherent unity by virtue of a single topic or several thematically related topics; (7) the items have inherent unity by virtue of their medium or format. Subunits within collections may be formed according to the same characteristics.

Container. Any housing for an item, a group of items, or a part of a group, which is physically separable from the graphic material housed.

Corporate body. An organization or group of persons that is identified by a particular name and that acts, or may act, as an entity. Typical examples of corporate bodies are associations, institutions, business firms, nonprofit enterprises, governments, government agencies, religious bodies, local churches, and conferences.

Cubic feet or meters. A measurement of volume for collections. Use the abbreviations "cu. ft." or "cu. m."

Deposit. Material placed in the physical custody of a repository (q.v.) without transfer of ownership. See also Accession.

Depository. See Repository.

Device. An emblematic design.

Distributor. An agent or agency having exclusive or shared rights for the marketing of an item.

Drawing. An original, freehand pictorial representation (other than a print or watercolor) on paper or similar non-rigid support.

Edition. The total number of prints (q.v.) and (usually artistic) photographic prints (q.v.) made and authorized by the artist or photographer for sale. The particular work within an edition is usually expressed as its number separated by a diagonal slash from the total number in the edition, e.g., 27/50.

Element. A word, phrase, or group of characters representing a distinct unit of descriptive information and forming part of an area (q.v.) of the description.

Entry. A record of an item or collection in a catalog (q.v.). See also Heading.

Finding aid. Published and unpublished descriptions of graphic material, created either by the originating corporate body, an individual creator or donor, or the repository, to establish physical and intellectual control over the material and to make it accessible to researchers. Basic finding aids include guides, inventories, card catalogs, checklists, shelflists, and indexes.

Ft. See Cubic feet or meters; Linear feet or meters.

GMD. See General material designation.

General material designation. A term indicating the broad class of material to which the item or collection belongs. See also Specific material designation.

Graphic materials. Generally, two-dimensional pictorial representations whether opaque (e.g., prints, photographic prints, drawings), or intended to be viewed, or projected without motion, by means of an optical device (e.g., transparencies, slides, negatives).

Heading. A name, word, or phrase placed at the head of a catalog entry to provide an access point (q.v.) in the catalog.

ISBD. See International Standard Bibliographic Description.

Imprint. The place, name of publisher, and the date of publication in the catalog record (in that order). It may include the name of the printer and place. It is recorded as the publication, distribution, etc., area.

Inscription. Anything written on the material by the creator or, even if not known to be in the creator's hand, anything that may contribute to the identification of the material.

Intaglio print. A print created from a plate with incised (recessed) lines and textures that have been cut, scratched, or etched with acid into the surface of the plate to hold ink for printing.

International Standard Bibliographic Description. The name of a group of standards, officially cited as "ISBD;" developed by the International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions to standardize, as much as possible, the descriptive portion of catalog and bibliographical records produced in different countries; prescribes the elements constituting the description, their order, and the punctuation between them.

Inventory. Generally, a descriptive list of items or groups of items in a collection.

Item. The smallest discrete unit of graphic material. Single graphic items may either be integrated into a repository's format collections (such as posters, drawings, stereographs, etc.) or filed by categories (such as biographical, geographical, and subject collections), regardless of the item's provenance. In such cases, the items are probably arranged by creator, subject, or date. These items may or may not be individually cataloged.

Letterpress. Refers to printing from moveable type.

Linear feet or meters. A measurement of shelf or file space occupied by a collection.
Express this measurement with the abbreviations "ft." or "m."

Main entry. The complete catalog record of an item or collection, presented in the form by which the entity is to be uniformly identified and cited. The main entry may include the tracings (q.v.) of all other headings (q.v.) under which the record is to be represented in the catalog (q.v.).

Manuscript text. Writing made by hand, including typescript and inscription.

M. See Cubic feet or meters; Linear feet or meters.

Markings. Any marks besides the signature and inscriptions, e.g., studio imprint, collector's stamp, etc.

Monogram. A character or cipher composed of two or more letters interwoven or combined; usually represents a name or part of a name.

N.d. See No date.

Negative. A glass plate or piece of film on which appears a "negative" image, i.e., directly opposite to a "positive" image (photographic print) or transparency.

No date. Without date, i.e., without a known or conjectured date of execution.

Note. Information that qualifies, amplifies, and explains data recorded in the formal description (that is, in the title and statement of responsibility area, publication, distribution, etc., area, physical description area, and series area).

Oeuvre catalogue. See Catalogue raisonné.

Opaque. Not transmitting any light.

Other title information. Any title other than the title proper (q.v.) or parallel titles (q.v.); also any phrase appearing in conjunction with the title proper, parallel titles, or other titles, indicative of the character, contents, etc., of the material or the motives for, or occasion of, its production or publication. Subtitles (q.v.), even if they are linked to the title proper by a preposition, conjunction, or prepositional phrase, are included as other title information.

Painting. Any pictorial representation produced by applying paint to a surface.

Parallel title. The title proper (q.v.) in another language or script, which is not grammatically linked to another part of the description.

Photograph. See Negative, Photographic print.

Photographic print. Any picture made by the action of light on sensitive (usually) silver salts. At first, the image was produced from glass plates or paper negatives, or the image was reproduced directly, as in a daguerreotype or tintype. The term "photographic print" (rather than photograph) is used here as a more precise term than "photograph," which technically can cover both positive and negative images.

Photomechanical print. Any picture produced in imitation of another picture through the use of a photographic process to transfer the image to a printing surface.

Photomechanical reproduction. See Photomechanical print.

Photonegative. See Negative.

Photoprint. See Photographic print.

Physical description. A statement indicating the number of physical units; the specific material designation (q.v.); the primary support (q.v.), if significant; the secondary support (q.v.), if significant; other physical details, as appropriate; dimensions; and accompanying material (q.v.).

Picture. A two-dimensional visual representation accessible to the naked eye and generally on an opaque primary support (q.v.). Use when a more specific term (e.g., print, photographic print, drawing) is not appropriate or when the process is unknown.

Planographic print. Print produced from a printing surface that is flat (planographic) as opposed to the raised surface of relief blocks and the incised surface of intaglio plates.

Plate mark. The indentation in the paper of an intaglio print (q.v.) made by the edges (usually beveled) of the metal plate during printing.

Portfolio. A container for holding loose materials, consisting of two covers joined together at the back; the covers are usually tied with tapes at the fore edge, top, and bottom.

Primary support. The support or base on which an image is printed or executed.

Print. A design or picture transferred from an engraved plate, wood block, lithographic stone, or other medium. Generally, there are three types: planographic print (q.v.), relief print (q.v.), and intaglio print (q.v.).

Provenance. Generally, the history of successive custody of a particular item or collection.

Provenience. See Provenance.

Reference source. Any publication from which authoritative information can be obtained. Not limited to standard reference works.

Relief print. A print that is printed from the ink on raised portions of a wood block or some other form of relief block (e.g., linoleum). The portions not to be inked and printed are cut away so that what remains stands out in relief.

Remarque. A drawn, etched, or incised design or sketch done by the artist on the margin of a printing plate or stone, often removed before the regular printing.

Repository. Institution having custody of graphic materials. In this document, repository and institution are used interchangeably.

Reproductive print. An original print (usually engraving) that is either a copy in another medium of an original work or is a print based on another work in a different medium. See also After.

s.d. See Sine datum.

s.n. See Sine nomine.

Secondary support. The material (other than normal museum overmatting) to which the primary support is attached; mounting.

Series. The term "series" has different connotations in libraries (publisher's series), museums (artist's series), and archives (series in a record group). One cannot avoid using the term, however, when trying to convey the relatedness of a group of graphic items. For the purpose of these rules, the term generally connotes a group of items related to each other by the fact that each (or most of the items) bears, in addition to its own title proper (q.v.), a collective title (i.e., series title) applying to the group as a whole. The individual items may or may not be numbered. Because of the circumstances under which a repository acquires original and historical graphic materials, it is quite possible that it might not have all of the items comprising a particular series or, indeed, even know what would constitute a complete series.

Signature. Autograph or cipher of an artist or photographer indicating approval of the work.

Sine datum (s.d.). (Latin) Without date, i.e., without a known or conjectured date of publication.

Sine loco (s.l.). (Latin) Without place, i.e., without the name of the place of publication.

Sine nomine (s.n.). (Latin) Without name, i.e., without the name of the publisher.

Slide. Transparent material on which there is a two-dimensional image, usually held in a mount, and designed for use in a projector or viewer.

Span dates. 1. The inclusive dates during which a single item was executed or the items in a collection were executed or published. 2. The inclusive dates depicted.

Specific material designation. A term indicating the special class of material to which an item or collection belongs. See also General material designation.

Sponsor-advertiser. The company, institution, organization, or individual who commissions and/or finances a work. Sponsor-advertisers may be considered to have a partial "authorship" relation to a poster, since they have commissioned the work and are responsible for the specific promotional goal it is designed to serve.

State. In printmaking, refers to the state of a particular plate or an impression from that plate, before or after significant alterations in the design. There may be several states; the number may be inscribed on the print as a roman numeral.

Statement of responsibility. A statement transcribed from or attributed to the material being described, relating to persons responsible for the intellectual or creative content, or to corporate bodies (q.v.) from which the content emanates.

Subseries. A series (q.v.) within a series; that is, a series which always appears in conjunction with another, usually more comprehensive, series of which it forms a section. Its title may or may not be dependent on the title of another series.

Subtitle. Other title information (q.v.) that is subordinate to the title proper (q.v.) and that completes and qualifies it, or makes it more explicit.

Title. A word, phrase, character, or group of characters, normally appearing on or with the material, naming the item or collection. Titles for graphic materials will often not lend themselves easily to separation into title proper (q.v.) and other title information (q.v.), but if the data can be clearly separated, the prescribed punctuation should be applied.

Title proper. The first element of the title and statement of responsibility area. The chief name of the material, including any alternative title (q.v.) but excluding parallel titles (q.v.) and other title information (q.v.).

Tracing. The record of the headings (q.v.) under which an item or collection is represented in the catalog.

Trademark. Any symbol or combination of symbol and character(s) used to represent or identify a product or its maker.

Transparency. A sheet of transparent material bearing an image and designed for use with an overhead projector or a light box. It may be mounted in a frame.

Watermark. Monogram (q.v.), decorative device (q.v.), symbol, or name, often of the paper manufacturer incorporated into the paper at the time of its manufacture. These marks may be used to trace the origin of the paper or to identify some prints.

EXAMPLES

The following are sample descriptions prepared under the provisions of these rules. They mostly do not include main entries or added entries and subject tracings. These examples should be regarded as illustrative, not prescriptive.

Reference numbers in the left margin are keyed to explanatory comments below the example. Double spaces are used before and after the physical description area to make the descriptions easier to read. This spacing is not mandatory. Occasionally, the general material designation is given to show how it would appear in the record. The general material designation is an optional addition.

Example 1 First and second level of description for single item (see Figure 1)

- (1) Only the three chief titles are recorded (cf. Level 2 below).

Level 1 (paragraphing used)

- (1) Three separate titles, each with two parallel titles (1E). The titles are separated by semicolon because there is only one creator (1B1.8).
(2) Option for general material designation used and is inserted after the first title proper (1D).
(3) Multiple statements of responsibility given as they appear on the item (1G4).
(4) Address of the publisher is omitted (2D3).
(5) Multiple publisher statements given as they appear on the item (2D2).
(6) Probable period of time in which the image was made, given in square brackets because supplied by the cataloger (2F5).

(2G). Probable place of printing is supplied by the cataloger (2C10.1).
(8) The print being cataloged was removed from a publication; citation is given (5B8.3). In addition, the cataloger alerts the researcher to a source with hand

4. Chemistry. I. Opie, John, 1761-1807. II. David, Jacques Louis, 1748-1825. III. Thornton, Dr. IV. Title.

- (1) Main entry.
- (2) Since the names "Dr. Priestley" and "Lavoisier" are actually separated on the item, they are recorded as other title information to reflect this layout to the catalog user (1F1).
- (3) Since the role of Opie and of David may not be clear to those unfamiliar with conventions in printmaking or the meaning of "pinxt.," it is explained in a note.
- (4) The date, an integral part of the publisher statement, is repeated as the date element and enclosed in square brackets (2F2).
- (5) Tracings. Arabic numbers indicate subjects (which, here, are merely shown as an example and are not prescribed); roman numerals indicate added entries.

Example 3 Single item with parallel titles

- (1) Weber, Lucas.
Jagd auf Grizzly Bären [graphic] = Chasse du grizzly bear = Hunting of the grizzly bear / Ch. Bodmer, pinx. ad nat. ; Lucas Weber, sc. -- Coblenz : Bei J. Hölscher ; Paris : Arthus Bertrand, éditeur, [between 1832 and 1841] ([Paris?] : Imp. par Chardon aine et Axe)

Extent and SMD : other physical details ; dimensions.

Notes.

- (1) Printmaker used as main entry.
(2) Date given as sometime between 1832 and 1841 (2F5.1).

Example 4 Single item with publisher and distributor

- (1) Waiting for Uncle Sam [graphic] : on the beach
Porto Rico. -- Meadville, Pa. ; St. Louis, Mo. :
(2) Keystone View Company ; [S.l.] : B.L. Singley
[distributor], c1900.

1 photographic print : stereograph ; 9 x 18 cm.

Subject: Rear view of four little nude children looking out to sea.

- (3) Keystone View Company, no. 10262.
Copyright deposit of B.L. Singley, 1900.

- (1) The two place names related to the publisher appear on the item and are recorded in that order (2C5).
(2) The distributor, whose function as such is deduced from the copyright claim, is named prominently on the item and is recorded in addition to the publisher (2D2). The place of distribution, however, is unknown; this is indicated in the same way it is for no known place of publication (2C12).
(3) The publisher's number is noted (5B19).

Example 5 Single published item without known individual creator

- (1) Brooklyn base ball team, 1899. -- [New York] :
Gardner & Co., c1899.
- (2) 1 photographic print on printed mount : sepia toned
- (3) ; image 42 x 54 cm., on mount 50 x 59 cm.

Subject: Studio portrait of New York baseball team. Printed identifications on mount: manager McGunnigle, players Smith, Pinckney, Corkhill, Caruthers, Terry, Collings, Foutz, Hughes, O'Brien, Bushong, Clark, Visner, Lovett.
Copyright deposit.

- (1) The title, which includes a date, is transcribed as it appears on the item (1A3).
- (2) The secondary support is described because of the printing on it and the information it includes (3B6.4).
- (3) Because there is a large difference between the image and mount sizes, dimensions are given for both (3D3.6).

Example 6 Single item with title from accessory to the chief source

- (1) [Portrait of Cyrus Patten] / Anson, New York.
-- 1852.

1 photograph : daguerreotype ; visible oval image 7 x 6 cm., in case 11 x 9 cm.

Date and identification from pencil inscription inside back cover.

Full leather case, hinged.

Subject: Half-length portrait of gray-haired man with side whiskers.

Gift of Douglas L. Parker, 1967.

- (1) Since only the surname of the photographer can be found for this unpublished item, geographical information associated with the name is recorded (1G9).

Example 7 Single item with title transcribed from published source

- (1) [A Nakoak chief's daughter] [graphic] / [Edward
- (2) Sheriff Curtis]. -- [1910]
- (3) 1 photographic print ; 19.3 x 14.7 cm. (7 5/8 x 5 6/8 in.)
- (4) "The Chief's Daughter"--in ink on verso; possibly inscribed by Imogen Cunningham.
Curtis no. in image: x331-10.
- (5) Published as photogravure in: The North American Indian / Edward S. Curtis. Seattle, Wash. : E.S. Curtis, 1907-1930, suppl. v. 10, pl. 334.
Subject: Woman seated on ceremonial platform supported by two totems, symbols of her slaves. Wearing woven hat with abalone shell earrings, cedar-bark wrap; ring in nose.
Copyright deposit, c1910.

- (1) The published title (from The North American Indian, published by Curtis himself) is transcribed as the title proper since it is the one most likely to be known by a catalog user and the manuscript title on the item is evidently not in the hand of the creator (1A2, 1B1.12).
- (2) The date has been derived from the Curtis number, which is known to incorporate the date.
- (3) The cataloger has chosen not to take the option to give the photographic print size in inches, but has instead recorded the size to the nearest millimeter with the inches in parentheses, as an optional addition (3D2.2).
- (4) The person is named, since she is a famous photographer herself.
- (5) The item being described is an original photographic print. Its subsequent publication as a fine photomechanical print is noted (5B20).

Example 8 Single item that was removed from a publication (see Figure 3)

- (1) Karen Female Institute, Tounghoo : with the native board of managers in their hunting dresses / drawn by Mrs. Ellen B. Mason, from a photograph.
- (2) -- [ca. 1862]
- (3) 1 print : lithograph, 4 cols. ; sheet 17 x 21 cm.

Subject: Five men with spears and bayonet seated cross-legged in foreground. Building in left background. Toungu, Lower Burma.
- (4) Plate from: Great expectations realized : or,
Civilizing mountain men / by Mrs. Ellen H.B. Mason
Philadelphia : American Baptist Publication Society, 1862.
Source unknown.

- (1) Since the layout is ambiguous, the sense of the text helps to determine what is the title proper, other title information, and statement of responsibility (1A2, 1B1.6, 1F1, 1G2).
- (2) The probable date of execution is determined on the basis of the publication date of the book (2H4).
- (3) The number of colors, in which the item was printed, is given (3C4.3).
- (4) The book, in which this print was, is cited (5B8.3). The data are recorded in the same order as they would be in a catalog record, except a period is substituted for a period, space, dash, space between "Mason" and "Philadelphia" (5A3).

Example 9 Single item with foreign language title

(1,2,3) [Die Mütter] / Käthe Kollwitz ; [printed by]

(4) Felsing. -- [1922-1923]

1 print : woodcut ; image 34 x 40 cm., on sheet
47 x 56 cm. -- (Krieg ; 6)

References: Klipstein, 182 (5th state)

(5) Trial proof, no. 5. Signed in pencil by artist and printer.

Subject: Women (and children?) clinging to each other in group; watching fearfully.

Purchase (Pennell Fund, 390030-7), 1969.

- (1) The title, found in the German catalogue raisonné, is used, since it is also in the artist's native language (1B1.12a).
- (2) The name of the artist is transcribed as it appears on the item (1G2).
- (3) The function of the second name given in the area of responsibility (and appearing on the item) is given for clarity (1G8).
- (4) Span dates of execution are given (2H1).
- (5) In addition to the cited catalogue raisonné, a note on the edition and information on the signatures are given (5B8.2, 5B7.1).

Example 10 Single item with well-established English title

- (1) [The three trees / Rembrandt Harmenszoon van Rijn]. -- [1643]
 - (2) 1 print : etching ; image 20 x 28 cm.
 - (2) Image trimmed to or within plate mark at bottom.
 - (3) References: Biörklund, 43-B; Rovinskii, 212.
 - (4) From the Gardiner Greene Hubbard Collection.
Gift of Mrs. Gardiner Greene Hubbard, 1898.
- (1) The well-established English title and the date are supplied from the references cited in the note area (1B1.12b).
 - (2) Since the plate mark has been obliterated on one edge of this intaglio print, the image size is given, and a note is made (3D5, 5B9.1).
 - (3) References to catalogues raisonnés are made to substantiate information provided by the cataloger and to direct the catalog user to a more detailed description (5B12).
 - (4) A provenance note is given because of the importance of the Hubbard Collection (5B25).

Example 11 Single item with supplied date of publication

- (1) The death cry [graphic] / S. Eastman, U.S. Army,

Schussele]. -- Phila[delphia] : Printed in color by
 - (2) P.S. Duval, [between 1848 and 1854?]
 - (3) 1 print : chromolithograph ; image 24 x 17 cm., on sheet 14 x 26 cm.
 - (2) Dated according to time period Schussele was in Philadelphia working for Duval.
Subject: Indian holding scalp of dead white man at his feet.
Source unknown.
- (1) Multiple statements of responsibility are transcribed as they appear on the item (1G4). In addition, a name is corrected, presuming it was not deliberately printed incorrectly.
 - (2) Probable period of time, during which the item was published is given, with an explanatory note (2F5.1).
 - (3) The dimensions of both sheet and image are given, since there is a large difference between them (3D3.6).

Example 12 Single item without a true title (see Figure 4)

(1,2,3) H.R. Robinson, 52 Courtland St. ... : caricatures
(4,5) and prints. -- [New York : H.R. Robinson, 1841 or 1842]

(7) Subject: Advertisement for print shop, showing lettering and central motif of wig, a play on Robinson's work for the Whigs.
Source unknown.

- (1) Text on the item provides the only title-like data (1B1.5).
- (2) Initials are recorded without internal spaces (0H2).
- (3) Title is abridged, omitting unessential information that consists of a repetition of the street address (1B1.).
- (4) Name of publisher is deduced from the text (used as title) and the use of the print as an advertisement for the publisher (2D8).
- (5) Probable date given according to the pattern in Appendix A (2F5.1).
- (6) Nonrectangular shape is described (3D4.3).
- (7) Explanations of functional type and the visual content are given in the subject note (5B14).

Example 13 Single item without explicit name in statement of responsibility

- (2) Havana from the sea / drawn on the spot by an officer
- (3) ; P.C. Canot, sculp. -- [London] : Published according
- (4) to law & sold by R. Willock, bookseller in Cornhill,
- and J. Boydell, engraver in Cheapside, [ca. 1768]

34 x 42 cm.

- (5) Sheet trimmed at or within plate mark on right and left.
Transfer from the Map Division, 1914.

- (1) An inaccuracy with the title is indicated (0F1).
- (2) Part of the statement of responsibility area includes a person not explicitly named (1G10).
- (3) The parts of a complex publisher statement are not recorded separately as they are linked by a connecting word (2D2).
- (4) A probable date is given (2F6.1, Appendix A).
- (5) A physical detail is noted (5B9.1).

 - (5) Since there is a fairly large difference between the image and sheet sizes, both are recorded (3D3.6). The cataloger has also chosen to include the text with the measurement of the pictorial area (3D3.1).
 - (6) The picture caption (which is independent of the title) is recorded (5B6).

- (3) The second category of material includes newspaper clippings as well, but since they are an integral part of the album, they are described as a component part (3B4) rather than as accompanying material.
- (4) The outside dimensions are given according to the terms of the first statement of extent, i.e., the album (3D9.1).
- (5) The relationship note ties this subunit to the collection (5B21); the catalog user looks to the collection description for other notes concerning the collection as a whole.
- (6) The provenance note gives the previous ownership of this particular subunit of the larger collection (5B25).

Another subunit from the collection described above:

- (1) Portraits and genealogy of Alexander Graham Bell and his ancestors. -- 1837-1916.
- (2) 35 photographic prints ; 10 x 8 in. or smaller
- (3) 3 albums (125 photographic prints) ; 31 x 21 cm. or smaller.
- (4) Forms part of the Gilbert H. Grovesnor Collection of Photographs of the Alexander Graham Bell Family.

- (1) Title devised by cataloger is used as main entry.
- (2) Two distinct categories of material are described (3F). The first category contains photographic prints of various sizes (3D9.2).
- (3) The second category is described in terms of the albums (3B1b), and the dimensions give the maximum size of the albums (3D9.2).
- (4) The relationship note ties this unit to the larger collection (5B21); the catalog user looks to the collection description for other notes concerning the collection as a whole.

Another subunit from the collection described above:

- (1,2) Album pintoresco de la Isla de Cuba. -- [Germany?] :
 - (3) B. May y Ca., 1858 (Berlin : Storch & Kramer)
 - (4,5,6) 1 v. (28 chromolithographs, 2 maps) ; 26 x 36 cm.
 - (7) Title from first print and decorative cover. "Isla de Cuba" appears on each print along with title of its own.
Subject: Cuban land- and cityscapes; scenes of home and family life.
Includes 2 maps of Havana.
 - (8) Forms part of the Gilbert H. Grosvenor Collection of Photographs of the Alexander Graham Bell Family.
 - (9) "Presented to AGB by Mr. Graham?"--pencil inscription inside front cover.
- (1) Although these prints are bound in covers, they are not being considered as a bona fide publication and are therefore cataloged as a collection according to these rules rather than according to those for books (0A).
 - (2) The probable country of publication is given, since the city or probable city is unknown (2C10.1).
 - (3) A printer appears separately from the publisher and is recorded in the printer position as an optional addition (2G).
 - (4) The statement of extent describes the basic unit the catalog user would see, which is also an integral part of the graphic material (3B1c).
 - (5) Dimensions are given according to the first statement of extent, i.e., the volume (3D9.1).
 - (6) Information on the component parts of the volume are given (3B4).
 - (7) The source of the title and a variant title are given in a note. The variant title will be made an access point (5B2).
 - (8) The relationship note ties this unit to the larger collection (5B21); the catalog user looks to the collection description for other notes concerning the collection as a whole.

Example 32 Two subunits from the same collection, cataloged separately

- (1) Inauguration of Miguel Aleman as governor of the state of Veracruz, Mexico. -- 1836 Dec. 1.
- (2) 1 album (35 photographic prints) ; 22 x 33 cm.

Four photographic prints evidently torn out of the album before acquisition.

Subject: Miguel Aleman (b. 1905) receiving congratulations, delivering speech, surrounded by crowds, posed with individuals. Images are uncaptioned, except one person is identified, in pencil, as Heriberto Jara.

- (3) Forms part of the Josephus Daniels Collection.
Transfer from the Manuscript Division (Josephus Daniels papers), 1948.

- (1) Descriptive title devised by the cataloger (1C2).
- (2) The "container," which is original to the collection, and its component parts are given (3B1c, 3B4).
- (3) The relationship note tells the catalog user that there is a larger collection to which this material belongs (5B21).

- (1) Group portraits of Pres. Woodrow Wilson and members of his cabinet. -- ca. 1913-1920.

14 photographic prints ; 10 x 8 cm.

- (2) Photographers include G.V. Buck, Clinedinst, Edmonston, and Harris & Ewing.
Forms part of the Josephus Daniels Collection.
Transfer from the Manuscript Division (Josephus Daniels papers), 1948.

- (1) Span dates for the unit are given (2H1).
- (2) Because there are more than three known photographers, in addition to unknown photographers, the names are given in a note (1G5, 5B7b).

Examples of USMARC records for graphic materials (1996 Update)

Introduction

Graphic Materials rules govern the content of USMARC fields 245 through 590 and are designated "gihc" in field 040 subfield 'e'. The following USMARC records describe pictures in the Library of Congress Prints and Photographs Division (P&P). They illustrate a variety of media and genres; published and unpublished materials; minimal-level and full-level cataloging. The examples also show varying levels of description. Readers will find sample records for single items, groups, and collections.

The examples help clarify the relationship of Graphic Materials descriptive conventions to headings and USMARC control fields for which Graphic Materials does not provide guidelines. They represent only how the descriptive guidelines in Graphic Materials rules are applied in P&P cataloging; other combinations of description and indexing tools are possible. Proper noun access points are taken from the Library of Congress Name Authorities (LCNA) or Library of Congress Subject Headings (LCSH), or are formulated according to AACR2 and the Library of Congress Subject Cataloging Manual, as appropriate. Topical headings and genre and physical characteristics terms are taken from the Thesaurus for Graphic Materials (designated "lctgm" and "gmGPC" in subfield 2 of MARC fields 650 and 655).

Leader and 008 bytes and some local LC fields have been omitted from the records with the exception of examples 1, 7, and 8. In these three instances Leader bytes 06 (type of record) and 07 (bibliographic level) are included to indicate coding of single item, sub-unit, and collection-level records for graphic materials.

Library of Congress (LC) inhouse system requirements have dictated certain coding practices within P&P. For instance, in example 3, field 541 (Immediate Source of Acquisition Note) subfield "a" is used because it is required by the inhouse system

In an apparent effort to make this visit a success, the Soviet Union announced that it would be willing to endorse a UN effort to settle the Arab-Israeli conflict and that the Cominform (the international organization of Communist parties) had been dissolved. Almost half of the collection consists of portraits of NAACP headquarter staff, state and national conference delegates, branch officers, and members, as well as entertainers, sports figures, government officials, and other professionals. Other photographs document the Association's long-term efforts to promote civil rights legislation through litigation, public protest, and sustained monitoring and reporting of lynchings and other injustices against African Americans. Many photographs cover national and regional conference activities, fundraising and membership campaigns, and marches. In addition, the NAACP's efforts to integrate the Armed Forces are shown, particularly during World War II. Of special note are snapshots taken by NAACP staff.

Miscellaneous supplementary and duplicate textual materials are housed in P&P's Supplementary Archives and are filed under collection name and LOT number.
500	Pa	PIIn addition to more than 4,000 photographic prints the collection includes special formats: 12 color transparencies, 11 16mm color film transparencies, 1 35mm slide, 55 b&w negatives, 22 panoramic photographs, 14 cartoons, 2 illustrations, 2 engravings, and 3 hinged wooden panels--as well as paper printing plates, engraving plates, and printing blocks.
545	Pa	PIIn 1909 the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (originally known as the National Negro Committee) began to work toward the elimination of racial and social injustices against African Americans. Images in the collection reflect the civil rights campaigns and administrative activities of the Association. Many of the photographs are from wire services and independent commercial photographers. Some photos appear to have been taken by Association staff members, in particular, Roy Wilkins, Charles Houston, and possibly others, while investigating civil rights injustices. Numerous photos bear stamps and other editorial markings, indicating they were acquired and used primarily for publication in the NAACP's official magazine (the "Crisis") and in its newsletter (the "Bulletin").
